We hit the street to ask you the question of the week. This week, you gripe about stupid people on cell phones.

Question:

What's the rudest thing someone has done or said on a cell phone in your presence? (Yes, we acknowledge that some of you think the very presence of a cell phone in public is rude.)

Pete Coode, 40LovelandI'm old enough to remember when there were no cell phones. Now a days you will be talking to someone and they will say, 'Hold on a sec.' If there is someone in person they are supposed to get priority over the phone. There is nothing so important it can't wait.

Josh Postolese, 23Fort CollinsJust not answering the phone or returning messages. That bugs me. People should turn off their phones in movie theaters. It bothers other people, but not me.

David Himot, 33Fort CollinsCell in movies. It's definitely the most annoying.

Rick Dellinger, 33Fort CollinsThe bluetooth can't tell if they are talking to me or someone else.

Jill Dellinger, 33Fort CollinsPeople who can't drive because their talking on the phone. If you see someone not driving well you can almost guarantee they are on the phone. I want that bumper sticker that says, 'Hang up and drive.'

Dave Allen, 59Fort CollinsOh, driving with a cell phone plugged into your ear. That's about the worst. I've seen women putting on makeup with one hand, coffee in the other, cell phone plugged in and driving with their knee.
